Dani Weder joins the ACR team

ACR Switzerland is excited to announce Dani Weder's appointment to the Board of Directors of ACR Switzerland. ACR Switzerland, a full subsidiary of the successful Swedish Air Navigation Service Provider ACR AB, provides tailor-made Air Navigation services and related support services for regional airports.

Today, ACR operates 17 regional airports with a reported high customer satisfaction, an excellent safety record, increased cost- efficiency and full price transparency. Dani Weder: "These airports are ACR's best ambassadors and serve as a validation of the innovative service provision model that can yield large benefits to the regional segment in Europa, globally, but also in Switzerland". He continues: "ACR is an industry role model for lean, tailor made Air Navigation services and has become a synonym for safety, efficiency and innovation. National service providers and ACR can learn and substitute from each other and have the potential to transform the industry with the application of innovative and collaborative business models. The potential is considerable, and I am proud to become part of the exciting journey of this Swiss start-up company".

Dani Weder's appointment to the Board of Directors assures a continuation of the started ACR expansion strategy into new markets and business areas and highlights the role of ACR Switzerland as the expansion platform for the wider European market.

The current ACR Switzerland Chairman Urs Sieber: "Dani Weder with his unique in-depth understanding of the commercial, regulatory and economic facets of the ANS industry is the ideal candidate to support the 'scale up' of ACR Switzerland within the national and European context".

In addition, Dani Weder has been appointed as a member of the Performance Review Commission (PRC) effective August 1. The PRC provides objective information and independent advice to EUROCONTROL's governing bodies on European Air Traffic Management performance.

The other mandates of Dani Weder's business portfolio will continue.

Daniel «Dani» Weder works as independent board member and adviser. For the last four years he was a member of the European Commission's Performance Review Body (PRB). 2007-2017 he has been in charge as CEO of Skyguide a private limited company responsible for Swiss Air Navigation services. Before joining Skyguide, he worked for the airlines Swissair and SWISS. He was a.o. VP Strategic Marketing, VP Product Development, EVP Airport Services & Operations Control as well as EVP Marketing & Services and in that function member of SWISS's Executive Board.
